

SMOOT BACKERS WANT A CAUCUS

Trying to Get Republican Members Together Wednesday.

OPPOSITION IS IN NO HURRY

EVERYTHING READY FOR THE MEETING OF LEGISLATURE.

Smoot men declare that a Republican senatorial caucus will be held Wednesday evening. They aver that the senate Republicans will today appoint a committee to confer toward that end with the like committee already appointed by the house. But the anti-Smoot men say there will be no caucus for several days, and perhaps none at all.

Both sides are sparring for the advantage. The strong Smoot men want the caucus at once, and the others are in no hurry. They are awaiting developments. Even if a caucus is finally called, the prospects are that a large proportion of the anti-Smoot members will not go into it.

State chairman James H. Anderson, acting in Smoot's interests, is bending every effort to force a caucus as early a date as possible. He has given it out that the senate Republicans will act favorably on senatorial matters today and that the caucus will probably be Wednesday evening. But some of the senators think differently.

Says There Is No Hurry.

"There's no hurry about a caucus," said one of them yesterday. "We will not begin balloting on senatorial matters until Tuesday of next week, so it will be time enough if the caucus is held Monday evening of next week. This is a serious situation, and there is no use acting hastily. I think a majority of the senators feel that they wish a little more light before voting on the proposition."

Aside from this, there was little change in the situation yesterday. The Smoot ranks seem to remain unbroken.

"I don't know of a man who has deserted," said Speaker-elect Thomas Hull yesterday. "I think we have had several additions. Without attempting to say just how many members are for Smoot, I think it is safe to state that he has a good majority."

Workmen were busy in the city and county building yesterday adjusting flags, arranging desks and applying feather dusters, with the result that the two legislative halls in which Utah's solons are to make, mend and mar statutes are in readiness for the opening session of the legislature at noon today. When the finishing touches were put to the arrangements the two halls presented a spick and span appearance, and William M. Owen, the janitor, under whose supervision the last work was done, heaved a sigh of relief.

Ready For the Legislature.

"We're ready for 'em," he said grimly, and then his features relaxed into a smile of satisfaction as he gazed upon the polished woodwork and shining leather of the sumptuously fitted senate chamber.

The two houses will assemble at noon today, the roll being called from the certificates of election which are on file in the office of the secretary of state. A justice of the supreme court will then swear in the new members. Then the legislature will exist in its sovereignty, independent of all other departments of the government.

Little work will be attempted the first day of the session. Each house will elect its presiding officer and its salaried subordinates, the Republican majority and the Democratic minority each taking turn in making nominations. President-elect Allison of the senate and Speaker-elect Hull of the house will then assume their duties and announce their respective committees on rules. The first business of the committees is to formulate a report specifying what standing committees of each house are needed for the transaction of business. After the adoption of the reports several days hence, the committees will be appointed. Pending the appointment will be a great scramble on the part of senators and representatives for the choice assignments.

Governor's Message a Long One.

Governor Heber M. Wells' message, which will be delivered to the two houses at Tuesday noon, will be a lengthy as well as an important state document. Although the state's chief executive has been busy with department reports and curtailing recommendations to the greatest extent consistent with a comprehensive presentation of what he has to say to the legislature, his message contains about 15,000 words, enough to fill a small volume. Nearly all the important problems with which the legislature will have to wrestle during the session will be mentioned, dealt with or analyzed by the governor. The question of irrigation legislation is expected to be exhaustively treated.

During the twenty-one months which have elapsed since the adjournment of the last legislature, Governor Wells has made many appointments. New boards were created by the last assembly, and vacancies occurred or were brought about, with the result that over a score of names of state officials must be submitted to the state senate for approval. So far as is known there is likelihood of friction between the executive and the upper house over the appointments made. The list will be sent down some time during the week. It is expected, as the constitution requires that it shall be submitted not later than ten days after the convening of the assembly.

Where Members Are Staying.

Country members of the legislature have been busy finding themselves homes in Salt Lake City during the last few days. Some of them have located themselves permanently, while others are still hunting. Among the legislators who are located in the downtown hotels are the following:

Knutsford-Senator C. E. Looze, Provo; Senator A. B. Lewis, Frisco; Kenyon-Senator A. G. Barber, Cache county; Senator George C. Whitmore, Millard county; Representative W. J. Kerr, Logan; Representative George Austin, Lehi; Cullen-Representative A. S. Condon, Ogden; Representative A. Moliniaux, Moab.

White House-Senator Willis Johnson, Sevier county.

Rainier House-Representative William E. White, Piute county.

Union Block-Senator C. P. Larsen, Sanpete county; Representative William Metcalf and Lorenzo Peterson, Sanpete county; Representative Asa R. Hawley, Sevier county, and Secretary A. W. Jensen.

Of all the legislators in Salt Lake City yesterday, there were few or none who had any bills ready for presentation. All have ideas as to legislation, and most of them have bills under preparation, ready to be submitted during the early part of the session.

FIDELITY IS URGED

A Gospel That Reaches From the Earth Into the Next World.

Among the speakers at the tabernacle yesterday were Joseph E. Taylor, Elder Spry of Grantsville and Elder Fleischman. The theme of all three speakers was fidelity. Elder Spry said, among other things, that "it is our duty to learn of Christ that we may overcome the world. We are not to avoid temptation, but to overcome it. We must be sober-minded, free from frivolity and not allow ourselves to be led away by every new doctrine that appears attractive."

Elder Fleischman said, in part: "It is a privilege to worship God. It is through the merits of God that we are placed in the way of a glorious resurrection. Joseph Smith was a chosen instrument in the hands of God to restore the true gospel which had been lost. It broadens the mind and makes us more liberal. It was left for the Latter-day Saints to disseminate the gospel. It is an obligation placed upon us, and it behooves us to feed lives that can be taken as a pattern by others. We must be spotless and free from blemish. Be diligent and faithful to every truth in the end we shall wear a crown."

Joseph Taylor called attention to the unselfishness of those who have volunteered their services to the church as missionaries, and said: "What incentive have they had from worldly standpoint? Men and women of greater endurance and integrity cannot be found. They have found opposition wherever they have worked. All of them have been met with opposition. There is no country where they have not found opposition, yet they have left families, kindred ties and worldly goods that they might go forth and preach the gospel. The Lord told Joseph Smith that good and evil would be spoken of him. Has not this been done? You may have transitory joys here on earth, but you cannot have eternal joys excepting through Christ. The gospel of God can correct every worldly grief and bring peace to every heart. It is the gospel that reaches to the end of the earth and into the next world."

MAY NOT BUILD SALT LAKE BASIN

Management of Resort Awaiting Result of Winter Storms.

BELIEVE WATER MAY RISE

BATHING WOULD THEN BE GOOD AGAIN AT PAVILION.

It is barely possible that the pavilion at Salt Lake will not be enclosed by a reservoir, as the management decided some weeks ago. Nothing has been done yet. Nothing may be done. The management is waiting the result of the winter storms and the fact that the waters have ceased to recede has given rise to the hope that the turning point has come. There is enough snow now to bring the waters up a foot and the promise for more snow is very bright.

In spite of all the experimenting that has been done, there are some who still doubt the success of the reservoir. Weather Clerk Murdoch, who has given some attention to the matter, said the other day that in his opinion the proposed basin would make the matter worse instead of better. There is bound to be a heavy precipitation of salt which would crust on the bottom and make it very unpleasant for bathers. The evaporation of the lake is estimated at five feet every year. If a body of the water were enclosed as proposed, the water would be evaporated, in spite of the running currents, which would quickly bring the water to the saturated point and the solids would be thrown down.

Laws of Chemistry.

This is one of the inexorable laws of chemistry. Water cannot be saturated with solids beyond a certain point. After a certain amount of solids are taken up by the water, it can take up no more and precipitation follows. This is the point of saturation and it varies with different chemicals. If the water is reduced by evaporation, the residue is the same. What the water will not dissolve falls to the bottom as a precipitate. The point of saturation in the case of sodium solids is about 32 1-3 per cent. When there is not enough water to hold that per cent of salt, it falls to the bottom.

To enclose the lake water in smaller confines would increase the chances of the alkaline precipitation. The main body has nearly reached the point of saturation, being about 26 per cent. All fresh water carries a certain amount of solids. These solids have been dumped into Salt Lake for centuries and have

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION WILL MEET IN KANSAS CITY THIS WEEK

Kansas City, Jan. 11.—All arrangements have been perfected for the National Livestock association, which will convene at the Hotel McAlister, Jan. 13-15. The association is composed of the National Association of Railroad Livestock Agents, which will meet in convention in this city this week. The three conventions will attract 7,000 persons directly connected with them, besides a host of others interested in the livestock business. A fund of $30,000 has been raised for the entertainment of the visitors, and every minute of their time here will be crowded with incident.

The livestock convention will begin its sessions Tuesday morning in the Century theatre, and will hold sessions there also Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The wool growers will meet Saturday at the livestock exchange, and the railroad men will meet at the Coates house Wednesday and Thursday. The wool growers are nearly all members of the big organization and will participate in its convention.

The entertainments provided are for the three associations, for the friends of the members and delegates, and also for the visiting newspaper men. Conclude the week there will be an excursion to New Orleans in a special train.

RAILROADS DOMINATE.

Easy to Forecast Choice of United States Senator.

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 11.—A successor to George Turner in the United States senate will be elected by the legislature which convenes at noon tomorrow. The leading candidates in the contest are Levi Ankeny, the millionaire banker of Walla Walla; Harold Preston, a well known lawyer of Seattle and ex-United States Senator John L. Wilson.

Probably the most important piece of legislation to come up at this session will be a bill to provide for a railroad commission to be appointed by the governor. Governor Henry McBride championed the railroad commission bill on the stump during the recent campaign

Water May Cover City.

In the case of Utah lake, which, like Great Salt Lake, is a remnant of Lake Bonneville, the great body of fresh water which once covered all the deserts and valleys of the intermountain country, the water has been kept fresh by the streams which empty into it. The same forces which made the prehistoric lake may occur again and cover Salt Lake City, but there is no need for immediate alarm as the inundating movement will require about 2,500 years. This is the geological record of these movements. The reduction of the waters of Great Salt Lake is attributed by the weather bureau to the rapid evaporation and the dry period of the past few years.

The past three years has been a record breaker for the weather department does not look for three more years like it. These extremes of dry and moist seasons follow each other like the swing of a pendulum. The chances are that for the next three years this section of the country may have fairly wet seasons.

If this proves to be the case, no reservoir will be needed at Salt Lake and there is already a snowfall sufficient to guarantee a perceptible rise of the water of the lake. The dry spell may continue for another year, but such a condition is not anticipated. A normal precipitation is looked forward to.

The last by the annual report of the local weather bureau at Garfield showed that the depth of the water had not decreased, and if there is no further decrease the next measurement is taken in about two weeks, it is safe to presume that the lowest water mark has been reached. The management of the resort at Salt Lake will be governed largely by the conditions of the weather for the next few weeks.

TRADE IS INCREASING

Export and Import Business of the Philippines For the Past Year.

Washington, Jan. 11.—A statement compiled by the bureau of insular affairs of the war department from official returns shows that during the month of September, 1902, the imports of merchandise into the Philippines amounted to $2,785,009, an increase of more than a half million dollars over the corresponding month of 1901, and considerably above the average monthly value for nine months of the current year. The export trade of $3,588,555 is the largest of any single month since American occupation, the exportation of hemp alone amounting to over two and a half million dollars, practically three-fourths of which was sent to the United States. Sugar and tobacco shipments to all countries during the month aggregated $573,679.

The effect of the recent legislation favorable to the direct shipments of goods to this country is apparent. Beginning with the month of May, 1902, this trade for the five months ended Sept. 30, 1902, being $5,081,165, as compared with $1,624,527 for the corresponding period of 1901.

The reports of merchandise during the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1902, were valued at $24,339,322 against $21,818,212 for the same period of 1901, and $17,187,991 in 1900. Manufactured articles continue to make up more than half the purchases, although two-fifths of the current nine months' trade (including nearly $3,000,000 worth of rice) consists of foodstuffs, as compared with one-fourth in the corresponding period of the preceding year, in which the value of rice aggregated approximately to three and a half millions. Reports received show a steady growth.

The total value of exports for nine months ended Sept. 30, 1902, was $19,239,015 as compared with $18,807,288 during the previous year, and $17,883,200 in 1900. Almost two-fifths, or $7,232,411 worth of the total export trade for nine months of the current year is credited to the United States, placing this country far in advance as the leading buyer of Philippine products.

CHEERS FOR GOV. TAFT

Filipino People Said to Desire Him to Remain in His Present Office.

Manila, Jan. 11.—The general regret of the Filipino people at the possible departure of Governor Taft resulted today in a popular demonstration for the purpose of urging the governor to remain in the islands. The streets of Manila have been placarded with signs saying: "We want Governor Taft in English, Tagalog and Spanish. A crowd of 8,000 men marched to Malacanang palace, the governor's residence, today. Upon reaching the palace, speeches were made by representatives of the Federal, Liberal and Nationalist parties, in which the governor was urged to remain. The speakers said Mr. Taft's presence was necessary to preserve order, for the prevention of political disruption and to insure the maintenance of the present policy. The speakers paid personal tributes to the governor, the crowd cheering its approval.

In replying to the addresses, Governor Taft said it would not be decided at present whether he would leave August, He assured the people that he would leave the present policy of the American government would suffer no change, it be-
